When Jesus heard that they had thrown him out, he found him and said, "Do you believe in the Son of Man?" He answered and said, "Who is he, sir, that I may believe in him?" Jesus said to him, "You have seen him and the one speaking with you is he." He said, "I do believe, Lord," and he worshiped him.

My Dear Friends in Christ,

Today the Church celebrates “Laetare Sunday”. The word “laetare” is taken from the Latin and means to “rejoice”, which may seem strange to us during this Lenten Season. This designation comes into play, however, when we recognize that we are very close to the celebration of the Easter, and there is “cause for rejoicing here”. Today’s readings bear this out as well.

Today’s first reading speaks of the anointing of David as king. Samuel, in being sent by God, is prompted by God to anoint David. David’s other brothers may seem, on the surface, to be more “qualified” to assume the role of king, but God sees beyond the surface. In anointing David, God shows that He “sees” us in a different way than we might see ourselves or others. In looking at the kingship of David (of which Jesus is “in line”), one sees that being anointed is no guarantee to perfection – which is good news for us, indeed! God shows to us that He “anoints” in a different way than society does.

Our second reading speaks of the second “theme” (of three) through which we walk with our RCIA candidates, that of “light”. We are called to walk in the light of Christ, for we are “children of light” (Eph 5:8). This might seem easy, for walking in light is much easier, safer and comforting than walking in darkness. Sometimes we might be drawn to darkness, however, because things in darkness are seemingly hidden. I say “seemingly”, for God sees all, which is a good thing as God can help us move from darkness into light.

Our gospel brings forth this idea of “light” in a different way, with the story of the man born blind. This is a physical blindness, but it is tied into the spiritual realm by the fact that in Jesus’ day sin and illness had a direct “linkage”. When one was ill or disabled, one was seen as being “born totally in sin” (as the Pharisees say in John 9:34); we know this not to be the case now, partly due to the actions of Jesus, who has no issue with healing the man. In “schooling” the Pharisees, helps us by teaching us to look beyond what is “seen” with the eye and to “see” with the heart. When we do this, we see as God sees.

Let us be people of the light, walking in the light of Christ. Let us follow the Lord in the light of His truth and love. Let us come to know Jesus and live in the light of life!

Have a Blessed Lent,

Fr. Paul

MY FRANCISCAN JOURNEY

Today's readings focus on the theme of "light". From the first reading which speaks of seeing with the light of faith in the choosing of David as King, to the second reading which calls us to be light in the Lord (Ephesians 5:8), to the gospel which tells of the man healed of his blindness/darkness, this image of light runs through today's readings.

One of the ways that St. Francis of Assisi speaks of this light which emanates from God comes in the lines found in Francis' "Canticle of the Sun (Canticle of the Creatures)". In speaking of the sun and the moon, St. Francis calls us to reflect on the light which comes from these entities. In speaking of the sun, Francis writes:

"Be praised, my Lord, through all your creatures, especially through my lord Brother Sun, who brings the day; and you give light through him. And he is beautiful and radiant in all his splendor! Of you, Most High, he bears the likeness." ("Canticle of the Sun (Creatures)", line one)

On this front, St. Francis tells us that the sun illuminates the day and under which we find beauty and splendor. In writing about the moon, Francis writes:

"Be praised, my Lord, through Sister Moon and the stars; in the heavens you have made them, precious and beautiful." ("Canticle of the Sun (Creatures)", line two)

Francis helps us to see, in the moon (and stars and heavens), the magnificent beauty and unique nature of this entity helps us to see how the light of the moon brings light (literally) to the beauty of the nighttime.

How has God's creation, spoken of so beautifully in Francis' work (as cited above), called you into deeper relationship with the Source of all Creation? How has God called you to be aware of, reflect on, and share this relationship with others, especially during this Lenten Season? May you open your mind and heart to this call, and may this call bring about a conversion of mind and heart to you all whom you meet.

Pax et Bonum,

Fr. Paul, OFS

Pope Francis has renewed the appointment of Boston Cardinal Seán P. O'Malley to the Council of Cardinals, an influential advisory body formed in 2013. “This morning, I was notified that Pope Francis has renewed my appointment to the Council of Cardinals,” said O'Malley, one of nine prelates from around the world initially tapped for the panel a decade ago, in a statement Tuesday. He said he was honored to serve and grateful for Francis' faith in his assistance. The council, O'Malley continued, “advises Pope Francis on matters concerning the life of the Universal Church.”
