My Dear Friends in Christ,

Today our Savior invites us, in today’s gospel, “come to Me, all you who labor and are burdened, and I will give you rest” (Mt 11:28). This past week was, for most, a time of rest from our labors. We as a nation commemorate this Fourth of July Holiday with parades, cookouts and, of course, the requisite fireworks demonstrations. Among all of this pageantry, let us never forget the sacrifice that has gotten us this freedom to do all of this celebrating. We “stand on the shoulders of giants”, of all of those brave men and women who have fought, and continue to fight, for our freedoms and liberties which we enjoy. It is imperative that we never forget this sacrifice, lest we sully their memory.

We recognize, as well, that as we rest from our labors, the work of Christian discipleship knows no holiday. We are always Christians, whether at work, at school, at home or on a holiday/seasonal break. Our holiday this past week gave us the appropriate time to reflect on what true freedom is all about for the Christian disciple. It is not liberty to do as we please, but to do as we ought in the name of God and, in doing so, honor God with the gift of that service. We come to realize, as we celebrate the gifts of “life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness”, that these gifts come from the “giver of all good gifts” – Almighty God.

Life, the first and greatest gifts, is to be afforded to all – the preborn, the mentally and physically challenged, the poor and marginalized, the imprisoned, the elderly and infirmed, and even those actively dying. It is given by God and, as such, is neither ours to bestow or remove. Liberty, the second gift, is that opportunity God gives us to worship Him free of constraints from the world. We are pleased and privileged to have it, and must cherish it always. The Pursuit of Happiness is not the attainment of material goods, but the “storing up in heaven” the gifts that last – peace, justice, truth and love – gifts that have permanence and meaning.

I pray that we used this holiday (as well as subsequent holiday breaks) wisely and well, reflecting on the goodness of God and all of the gifts He has given us. May we pray that God will continue to pour out His Spirit upon us, so that we may seek out these gifts, use them for the betterment of ourselves and our brothers and sisters and always strive for the greater glory of God!

A Blessed Week to All,

Fr. Paul

MY FRANCISCAN JOURNEY

Often times, we think of ourselves as bodily entities with a soul. If we are to put things in proper perspective, however, we should think of ourselves as soulful beings that have a body. This is due to the fact that while our bodies are perishable, our souls are imperishable. They are not, however, beyond the scope of God. This is something important to keep in mind as we evaluate our lives from time to time, seeing where we stand with God. In today's second reading, for example, St. Paul reminds us that we "are not in the flesh; on the contrary, you are in the spirit, if only the Spirit of God dwells in you" (Romans 8:9).

Before his conversion, St. Francis of Assisi lived very much dictated by the flesh and by what he did in the body. He didn't give much thought to his souls, if he did so at all. He lived in the moment, but not in a positive way. He lived for today, not giving any thought to the consequences of his actions here on earth while in the body. He gave no thought to the state of his soul, only seeking those things in the here and now. This is a dangerous way to live, because Sacred Scripture reminds us that "...we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, so that each one may receive recompense, according to what he did in the body, whether good or evil" (2 Corinthians 5:10). Francis neglected to see the ramifications of his hedonistic lifestyle, not seeing the damage he was doing to his soul while living fully in the world in the body. It wasn't until his encounter with the leper, a pivotal point in his life (and, subsequently, in the life of the Church), that he saw beyond this world and glimpsed what true living was, a life of not only the body but of the spirit as well.

In today's gospel Jesus reminds us that God has "hidden these things from the wise and the learned you have revealed them to little ones." (Matthew 11:25) And what, exactly, are these "things"? Nothing less than the fact that Jesus relies not on wisdom but innocence, purity, and charity. While St. Francis certainly wasn't innocent, he strove for a purity and charity beyond measure and beyond this world. May we come to recognize that in these opportunities, God gives us the same opportunity as He did to St. Paul and to St. Francis of Assisi. May we strive to look at people and see Christ and to be Christ, until the day we reach the Heavenly Kingdom.

Pax et Bonum,

Fr. Paul, OFS

Summer Lunch

The St. Vincent DePaul Society at St. Ann's is again providing grocery cards for the summer to families in town who are on free lunch. We are asking for donations of grocery gift cards in the amount of $25. They can be put into the St. Vincent dePaul boxes at the doors of the church. If you know anyone who needs help, please contact Linda Santry at 508-586-6535 or linda@santry.org.

Here is a bit of inspiration from Rosemary Maffei from the Faith Formation Office at the Archdiocese of Boston:

....Summer has arrived and it's officially time for you to relax. We hope that you will use this time to refresh, spend time with family and friends, and enjoy the outdoors.

For myself, I plan to return to the basics and get out in nature. As they say, the best things in life are still free and they are all gifts from our loving God and Creator. On my personal checklist, I hope to see the waves crashing on the beach and feel the sand in my toes, hear the birds on an early morning walk (when I'm not counting my steps), smell the fresh air from a hike in the woods, and see multiple sunrises and sunsets. For as surely as the sun will rise and set, we can be assured of our God's infinite love for us.

Words to live by this summer.

Hi Friend,
Does prayer make a difference?

(Daughters of Saint Paul)

In a world that values productivity, it can be easy to approach prayer as a kind of exchange: we ask for something, and God answers. But when prayer runs dry or doesn't seem to be "working," we may wonder if it's worth it (or if we are doing something wrong).

When this happens, it is helpful to remember that prayer is relationship. We do not spend time with the people we love most because we want something from them, but because we want to be with them.

Jesus wants to be with us, too, on an infinitely greater scale. We can—and should!—share our needs and desires with Jesus. But Jesus also wants to introduce us to his desires. Little by little, he helps us grow in communion with him, and our hearts learn to move with his heart

In this sense, prayer always makes a difference—because it changes us. The question is, are you ready to be changed?

As Sr. Mary Lea Hill writes in Prayer and You, "Prayer makes us more receptive, more open, available, and understanding of God's plans for us.... Whether I pray for myself or for someone else, for something urgent or useful, what prayer does is enhance my union with God. It fills me with awe and gratitude that God has such concern for me that he listens and hears."

Prayer Tip:

Commit to 15-30 minutes of prayer today at an Adoration Chapel near you, or at a time when your parish is open for prayer. Ask the Holy Spirit to guide your prayer. Read John 1:38-39. Then, close your eyes and imagine that you are one of the disciples following Jesus. What are you looking for? What does Jesus want to show you? How might he be inviting you to follow him more closely?
