Jesus said to them, "Did you never read in the Scriptures:
The stone that the builders rejected has become the cornerstone...?

Therefore, I say to you, the kingdom of God will be taken away from you and given to a people that will produce its fruit."

- Mt 21:42ab, 43

We, The Together in Christ Collaborative of St. Ann and St. John the Evangelist, welcome and engage all ages to become the disciples that Jesus is calling all of us to be. United by faith and in the Celebration of the Mass, we embrace the call of Jesus to live our mission to "Go forth and make disciples." Through evangelization, education, and by the empowerment of the Holy Spirit, we will grow together as One Body of Christ.

Recently, we have had a bit of a black cloud over the Rectory at St. John's.

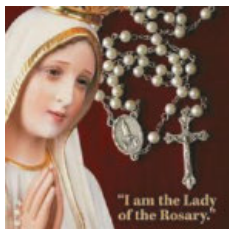

The hot water tank let go in the basement which flooded the basement and during a recent wind storm the wind got hold of the side door and ripped the closers off the door and destroyed the door frame as well.

With the cost of water remediation in the basement, a new hot water tank and a new door and frame we have accumulated a total cost of $4,300.00.

While you as parishioners have been extremely generous, we unfortunately, still do not have the necessary funds for such an amount.

On the weekend of October 7th and 8th, the second collection will be to help defray this extraordinary cost. Please be as generous as possible.

My Dear Friends in Christ,

I have no luck with horticulture. If you ever want a plant to die a quick, painless death, put it in my hands. Since my youngest days, I have not had the ability to grow anything. Remember those elementary school projects when you were given charge of a seed with some dirt in a Styrofoam cup? It didn't grow an inch in my care. In fact, I went to check on it (by poking it, of course) and I believe that's when I did it in. I had a friend in college ask me to tend their plants. As much as I begged and pleaded to the contrary, they insisted I could do it. How wrong they were! Needless to say, they never asked me again to watch their plants.

I bring these stories/images up in light of our readings today. In the first reading, responsorial psalm and gospel, the image of a vineyard is used prominently. In the first reading, Isaiah speaks of Israel as a vineyard and how God, try as He might, cannot yield anything but "wild grapes" (an image of the uncooperative nature of the Israelite people). Because of this, God allows the vineyard to be trampled underfoot (read: the kingdom of Israel to be disbursed and left to fend for themselves). They will come around, but not without a lot of "pruning"!

In the responsorial psalm, this image of the vineyard (Israel) is carried forward by the psalmist. In this psalm, the history of the Israelites is laid out, from their captivity in, and exile from, Egypt to their disobedience to their restoration. In this image, God (the vinedresser) never truly abandons Israel (the vineyard), but allows it to "lay fallow" for a time. God will, indeed, restore Israel, in His own time.

In the gospel passage, Jesus uses the image of the vineyard to mirror the people of God. The chief priests and the elders (the caretakers of the vineyard) have not produced the results which God has wanted, for they are only concerned with their own well-being and not that of the people. Because of the inability to tend the "vineyard" to God's liking, the vineyard will be given to someone (read: disciples/ apostles of Jesus) who will care for it.

My friends, we have been given care of the vineyard. We have the opportunity to grow great things, in the form of our parish and our faith. May we have the strength, given by God, to tend the vineyard (the Church), to carefully tend its crop (the people of God) and yield great fruit (souls for the Kingdom).

Have a Blessed Week,

Fr. Paul

MY FRANCISCAN JOURNEY

As you are probably aware, the Church (in general) and the Franciscan community (in particular) celebrated the Feast of St. Francis of Assisi on 4 October. This is the seminal feast for Franciscans, as it honors the founder of the Franciscan Order. It also calls to mind the commitment that we as (Lay, Religious, or Ordained) Franciscans made to the Franciscan Order. As a Secular Franciscan, along with people such as Nancy and Kevin Smith (with whom I professed 16 months ago), I belong to a Community that finds its “home” in the world. Unlike those of the “First Order” and “Second Order”, who house themselves in religious communities of like-minded men and women, we as “Third Order” Franciscans situate ourselves in the world. Unlike the First and Second Order, who have physical habits that they wear, we wear the Tau Cross (the cross you’ve probably seen hanging around my neck) as our “habit”. It is these differences that primarily separate the Orders of Franciscans.

As I mentioned, Secular (or Third Order) Franciscans have as their community the world. This can be both a blessing and a challenge. It can be a blessing because wherever we are in the world, we are “at home” with our Franciscan life. It can be a challenge because we must actively seek out other Franciscans, since we don’t live in a “community” of them. First and Second Order Franciscans often find themselves in rectories, monasteries, convents, and houses of prayer full of Franciscans. Third Order Franciscans make their community among other Franciscans in meeting rooms/halls, churches, or wherever we can find a gathering space adequate to our needs.

In the time that I have been a professed Secular Franciscan, I have belonged to two different “Fraternities” (or groups of Lay Secular Franciscans). No life is perfect, and the Franciscan life is no different. In my time as a Secular Franciscan, I have (sadly) come to experience some “un-Franciscan” behavior and attitudes. Luckily this has been the exception, but it serves to remind me that for me to be a Franciscan, I cannot take a “day off” from that life. Like my priesthood, being a Secular Franciscan isn’t simply “what I do”...it is “who I am”. My day-to-day life is infused with Franciscanism, a way of living as St. Francis would want me to do. It means bringing Christ to all, seeing Christ in all, and living my Christian witness with a “Franciscan style” of seeing Christ in everyone – from the “Sultans” in my life to the “lepers” in my life (both in reference to encounters which St. Francis himself had).

I pray that my journey as a Secular Franciscan, just beginning in many ways, is one which will sustain me my whole life long. I pray that I grow in my love of Christ, a love which St. Francis exemplified by his own life and death. I pray that my fellow Secular Franciscans and I continue to bring Francis to all and all to Francis...or, as we Secular Franciscans like to say, “going from Gospel to Life, and Life to the Gospel”.

Pax et Bonum,

Fr. Paul, OFS

Are you aware?

Child sex trafficking is a brutal and inhumane crime that destroys the lives of millions of children yearly. According to the International Labour Organization (ILO), more than one million children are sex trafficked globally. However, the actual number is likely much higher due to underreporting and the challenge of accurately tracking this horrific crime. The reality of child sex trafficking is bleak and devastating for the victims, who often suffer physical, emotional, and psychological trauma that can last a lifetime.

We can help! Are you interested?

A movie about child trafficking that is a MUST for all adults to see. It is extremely tastefully done but addresses the most disturbing matter in today’s society. Based on a true story that will shock your inner core. We as Christians need to be aware and stand up to create change.

The Broom

There was a little boy who was scared of the dark. One evening his mother asked him to go out onto the back porch and bring her the broom. The little boy said, "Mama, please don't make me go out there. It's dark and you know I'm scared of the dark."

His mother smiled at him and said reassuringly, "There's no need to be afraid of the dark. Jesus is out there, and he'll look after you and protect you."

The little boy seemed unsure and said, "Are you sure Jesus is out there?"

The mother said, "Yes, I'm sure. Jesus is everywhere and is always there and ready to help when you're in need."

The boy thought for a moment, then went to the back door and opened it a tiny amount. He looked out into the darkness and called out, "Jesus — if you're out there, please pass me the broom."
