29TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

“Repay to Caesar what belongs to Caesar and to God what belongs to God.” - Mt 22:21c

Excerpts from the Lectionary for Mass 62001, 1998, 1970 CCD, OLP

We, The Together in Christ Collaborative of St. Ann and St. John the Evangelist, welcome and engage all ages to become the disciples that Jesus is calling all of us to be. United by faith and in the Celebration of the Mass, we embrace the call of Jesus to live our mission to “Go forth and make disciples.” Through evangelization, education, and by the empowerment of the Holy Spirit, we will grow together as One Body of Christ.

Let us pray for the victims in Israel and Ukraine and the end to such evil around the world.

My Dear Friends in Christ,

“Render unto Caesar what is Caesar’s, and render unto God what is God’s” (Mt 22:21). You have no doubt heard the saying given by Jesus in today’s gospel (I chose to use a slightly “older” translation), but may still be wondering what is Caesar’s and what is God’s? In answering that question, one decides how much of their life they “owe” to God and how much they “owe” to the State. The challenge comes in making that division. Most of us have to work, most have to pay taxes and most “owe” something to provide for the “common good” (roads, schools, hospitals and the like). Beyond that, one might wonder how much is to be given to that “common good”.

You’ve doubtless heard me ask the question, “do you own your wealth, or does it own you?” (taken from a financial seminar I once viewed on public television). It is a valid question, and one which Scripture poses in a different manner: “where your heart is, there your treasure will be also” (Mt 6:21). It is a valid question, for it very well directs and guides our motives and motivations. If we live “in the world, but not of the world” (another expression you’ve heard me utter, ad nauseam), then I believe we have our spiritual “house” in order. When we have our eyes focused on the mission, message and life of Jesus and if we keep our intentions focused on making it to the Kingdom, then I believe that we’ll be just fine.

As Shakespeare says, though, “therein lies the rub” (Hamlet, Act 3, Scene 1)! We have to live in the world, all the while keeping our eyes focused on the Kingdom. This can be difficult, what with all of the world’s allurements and illusions. Living in the world can be that “double-edged sword” of having to enjoy the goodness of life while trying to avoid the things which aren’t good for us, good for our soul. We must realize that every decision/choice we make has consequences, and that these consequences can be life-altering (oftentimes for the better, but sometimes not!). The “Serenity Prayer” (written by Reinhold Niebuhr, used in many 12-step programs) asks for the “serenity to accept the things I cannot change, courage to change the things I can, and wisdom to know the difference”. May we have these gifts so as to align ourselves with God’s will, striving to do the same each and every day.

Have a Blessed Week,

Fr. Paul

It would be helpful if for those parishioners who are having memorials for their loved ones in the form of flowers, please provide the payment for the flowers prior to the Mass. We have to pay the florist before the flowers are provided. The cost is $85.00 Thank you.

MY FRANCISCAN JOURNEY

Not long after hearing the call at San Damiano from God to “rebuild my church”, Francis, dressed in rough clothing, took precious merchandise from his father’s store and sold it to his customers, in order to pay for the rebuilding of the fallen-down chapel. He also sold his father’s horse. Francis’ father, Peter, would have preferred to see Francis go back to wearing fancy attire and throwing parties for his old chums. He was aghast and embarrassed, moreover, to learn that Francis was often caring for the lepers, who were living in the valley below Assisi.

In response, his father, boiling with rage, dragged Francis before the bishop of Assisi and demanded the return of his property and goods. Francis readily agreed to this. In the hearing of all present, Francis said, “From now on I will no longer say, My Father Peter Bernadone, but Our Father who art in heaven.” Francis gave back to his father not only his property and goods, but the money and all his clothes as well. Francis carefully placed his clothing on the ground. The bishop, admiring Francis’ fervor, drew him into his arms and covered him with his mantle. The bishop understood that Francis’ actions were inspired by God—and were part of God’s way of leading Francis into an amazingly new form of life. Francis’ heart was overflowing with joy. His heavenly Father had set him free of all attachment to earthly things.

Francis was now ready to serve the Lord simply and without fear. For all who follow St. Francis of Assisi today, this kind of poverty and detachment can lead to the freedom to, in St. Matthew’s words, become “children of your heavenly Father, for he makes his sun rise on the bad and the good, and causes rain to fall on the just and the unjust. . . . So be perfect, just as your heavenly Father is perfect” (5:45, 48).

Pax et Bonum,

Fr. Paul, OFS

THIS WEEK’S SECOND COLLECTION IS FOR WORLD MISSION SUNDAY.

NEXT WEEK WILL BE FOR THE SNOW AND HEAT FUND

In Father Paul’s column last week he asks us if we are willing to follow God’s word.

“So where do we fit in to this parable? We have heard the Word of God; have we tried to apply it in our lives? We strive to follow Jesus; have we worked each and every day, wearing our “wedding garment” and showing the world what it means to be a Christian? May we have the courage to not only hear God’s invitation, but respond to it wholeheartedly. May we come to know God’s love, live in that love, and share it with all whom we meet.”

The trafficking issue that is impacting the whole world, is my call to wear my wedding garment. It is no longer possible for me to hear the stories, see the films, hear the statistics and do nothing. I am aware that I am only one person but I also know that it only takes one person to bring awareness to many. I hear God’s plea to “Do something.”

The bulletin will be providing various sources of information regarding this matter to bring awareness to this issue. We will also be working with the East Bridgewater Police Department and a council on trafficking from Plymouth County. We hope to host a panel discussion in the near future which will provide information.

We are at the infancy of this effort. Your input is critical. Please call me at the Rectory 508-378-4207 if you would like to join this effort or just be part of getting the information. If you have suggestions, stories, contacts, websites, articles etc. that you think would be helpful, please let me know. I would like to build a ministry that addresses this Christian need.

Please join me.
Debbie Conrad
