DEACONS' CORNER

This weekend has been extended for we celebrate Presidents' Day Monday, a national holiday. Recently, I have come to the conclusion that many people look upon the office or the rank (to use a military term), and the person or persons holding that office or rank as one and the same. I refer to the military for its members always show the respect and decorum due to the rank regardless of how they may view the person holding that rank.

As we celebrate Presidents' Day, we all would do well to be aware of this distinction when we speak of any office of responsibility such as president, teacher, cleric or parent. With the title, comes the expectation of respect for that title or rank.

As Christians, we struggle to love our neighbor as Jesus commands us and as Christians and Americans, let us also encourage each other to exhibit respect toward all people.

God bless you.
Deacon Brendan

A NOTE FROM THE PASTOR

My Dear Friends in Christ,

Last month, I had the opportunity to attend a Pro-Life Rally sponsored by Massachusetts Citizens for Life. At this rally, there were speakers who reminded us that we are called to value life in all stages, from pre-birth to our growing years to our “golden years” to the end of our earthly existence. It bolstered my resolve to be a “person of life” in all stages, from conception to natural death. This is the position of the Church and it is one I am proud to hold. I believe that God made all life sacred and that the most effective way that we can convert minds and hearts on life issues is to hold to this principle.

One of the challenges we face in being “people of life” is the radical viewpoints that folks from the “fringes” (“left” or “right”, for lack of a better term) hold when espousing their positions. A conversation can begin – and end – often times with the phrase “this is the way that it is, and that’s that!” This is not to say that we shouldn’t have principles or viewpoints which hold a measure of objective truth; it was Alexander Hamilton who said that “those who stand for nothing will fall for anything.” There is much to be said, for example, for the position that life begins at conception. I believe that by having a “standard” focal point on which we can place ourselves is a key in “converting” those folks who, in their minds and hearts, don’t hold this view. It will be in converting minds and hearts, I believe, that we shall win people over, or at the very least be open to conversation and further discussion. The “radicalization” of conversation, however, can bring a “death knell” to any dialogue.

Jesus, in today’s gospel, confronts the radical nature of such dialogue when he broadens the viewpoint of the Mosaic Law. The adage “an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth” can be used by both “sides” of a discussion, for example. Jesus moves the conversation forward, however, when he challenges the listener to go beyond the literal interpretation of even Holy Scripture. In “going the extra mile”, one is pressed to see beyond their own viewpoint and to extend themselves to be one with the “other”. In seeing the inherent “personhood” of another, one can no longer engage in demagoguery, “demonizing” the person. They must see the need of the other, and respond to that need. Sometimes, that need is to “convert” a mind/heart; sometimes, it’s simply to listen and to be open to dialogue, conversation and even understanding.

May we hold fast to the truths of our faith, but may we also be willing to “go the extra mile” and get out of our “comfort zone” to truly hear and see the “other”. May we strive for “perfection”, not in the eyes of the world but in the eyes, mind and heart of God.

Have a Blessed Week,

Fr. Paul
